With the basic package, the teacher would project the presentation to the whole class. We can play trivia games where students can answer questions in front of the whole class, have students ask questions of the teacher using the annotation tool, show a video, and use the WebEx integrated chat tool to interact with the presenter.

Any of our presentations can be accessed as an online recording. We can even record a custom presentation for you to show to an entire classroom.

Adding any of the premium package options increases student-presenter interaction. The presenter could use the polling option to ask students questions and then share the results with the entire class. We can also use the WebEx file transfer to transfer files like worksheets or handouts to students for them to work on individually. If the teacher's computer has a webcam, the presenter can take over some of the teacher's moderating duties, calling on students and organizing them into groups.
